Shortly after our enlistment we were marched to the Richmond College and formed into a battallon of three companies, and it is from the lists of these that I have compiled the roster of the fore the grading, which buried the roots many feet below.

There was a generous rivalry among us, as to our preference for the various soldier companies of that day, and the simultaneous thud of an "order arms" or crash of a "volley" was halled with great delight. Among them, I remember the Fayette Artillery, under Capt. H. Ccalter Cabell. They fired the salute from the southern plateau, No. 4 using the old fashioned lint-stock and fuse, or heated frons. As he ran towards the guns, the cry was "look out" and then we stopped up our ears, many rolling down the steep hillside in their exuber, ance of spirits. The State Guard, Capt. Charles Dimmock; the Blues, maybap led by dear old "Daddy" Richardson; the Scarlet Guard, the Henrico Troop, Capt. J. Lucius Davis. Then the Grays, the Montgomery Guard, under Capt. John Dooley, of blessed memory; the German Rifies, Capt. Milier; the Young Guard, and Co. F. Capt. Miles Cary.—Par parenthesis, why have netther the Irish nor German Companies reorganized since the war? They galned an enviable reputation during the war, fighting saliantly in the old First, in defense of their adopted homes. Surely they have sacred memories, too, to perpetuate, and their reappearance would be halled with pride and delight by all. Has the old brotherhood feeling died out? Is it one of the influences caused by the innovations resulting from the war?

Having invested some of our pennies with the old black nunties outside, in a liberal supply of lemonade and cake, we entered, and cooled off, resting under the shade of the poplar trees in the corner, before we climbed the long, wooden steps which led to the plateau above, for this was before the grading, which burled the roots many feet below. Among the handsome residences recently completed are those of Dr. R. D. V. Jones, Dr., Joseph Rhem and Mr. D. F. Jarvis.

The magnificent residence of Mr. W. B. Bades, president of the Blades Lumber Company, is almost completed, and is considered one of the handsomest structures in the old North State. Captain Walface, or the steamer Neuse, is also erecting a handsome dwelling on Medcalf Street.

Mr. W. C. Briek, general foreman for the Elm City Lumber Company, will erect a nice dwelling at Riverside, just north of this city.

The Elm City Lumber Company will erect a slab conveyor from their mill across South Front Street, where it will utilize several lots for the storage of wood.

The Pine Lumber Company has recently challed its mill with electric lights, the sample of lights of the storage of wood.

The Pine Lumber Company has recently challed its mill with electric lights, the sample of lights of the storage of wood.

The Pine Lumber Company has recently challed the blowing of steam whistles between the hour of 10 o'clock P. M. and annerse. This is meeting with a great deal of opposition from the mill and tug boat men, who claim that it interferes with the operation of their business, During the winter months this would prevent the blowing of the 6 and 7 o'clock whistles, as the sun does not rise until after that time, and, as this is the only means the mill operators have of calling their graphoyes, the law is considered, by many people, a very unjust one.

A MIGHTY BULL WHIPPED BY HORSE

The Jackson, Tenn., correspondent of the New Orleans Times-Democrat is respon-

Mr. Hunt gave the halter rein to the bey and thought he would drive the irate animal away. The bull started to flee, but changed his mind after running a short distance, and discovering his pursuer did not have the dreaded pitchfork, he lowered his head and charged upon his master. Mr. Hunt attempted to run and fell. The bull butted him as he passed, and it looked for a moment as if Mr. Hunt would be gored to death. The boy dropped the rein of the staillon and started off for help. It was then that the noble animal proved himself faithful to his master and was a real hero. Rearing up on his hind feet, with a snort of defiance, he bore down upon the bull, which in the meantime had returned a second time upon Mr. Hunt and was about to trample him to death. The horse bit a large cleen of "heaf and here" out of the second time upon Mr. Hunt and was about to trample him to death. The horse bit a large piece of "beef and hair" out of the buil's back at the opportune moment, and, wheeling, planted both rear heels in the ribs of his opponent, almost sending him to the earth and causing him to roar with pain. The bull left his prostrate victim and fled in terror, with the horse pursuing him and taking chunks of hide and flesh every few steps, until he had been chased to the bottom. The horse then returned to his master.

FITZHUGH LEE ON LYNCHING

General Fitz Lee, on his way to Kansas to deliver lectures, stopped over in Kansas City, Mo., a day or two. He was interviewed by a reporter of the Star. Speaking on lynching he said;
"I don't believe in lynching. Nobody believes in lynching. Be careful that you get that right. Nobody does."
"However," continued the General, "there is one of the objects attained by lynching that is seldom considered. If a man, say a negro, shall assault a woman, perhaps some very dear relative of yours, he has got to be killed or arrested. If this negro is arrested after his crime and is brought into the courtroom, the wpman, the one who has suffered already, is the principal witness. She must appear, and perhaps under the cross-examination of lawyers, relate even details of the assault, thus subjecting her to humiliation to an extreme degree."

With this statement, which Gen. Lee

ALFRED VANDEBILT FARMER'S CANDIDATE A special from Newport News, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt are making arrangements for a "house warming" to be given at their place on the ing" to be given at their place on the Island known as Oakland Farm, at which all the farmers and their wives in the township will be livited. For some time the farmers have been trying to persuade Mr. Vanderbilt to enter politics in the town of Portsmouth, and it is understood that they want him to accept the presidency of the Town Council. There is no salary attached to the office, but some small fees, which Mr. Vanderbilt would probably turn over to an assistant.

The Jackson, Tenn., correspondent of the New Orleans Times-Democrat is responsible for the following:

A story of a horse that is a real hero comes from this county. Bob Hunt, a well known stockman, owns a beautiful gray stullion and a fine Jersey built. There is no salary attached to the office, but some small fees, which Mr. Vandershit would probably turn over to an assistant.

The farmers think that if Mr. Vandershit a vicious also sition. Usually a pitchfork perves to frighten him off from about the harn or pasture.

Thursday of this week, Mr. Hunt, in Thursday of this week, Mr. Hunt, in Thursday of this week, Mr. Hunt, in the Legislature, Friends of Mr. Vanderbilt hardly think that he will listen to the use of his name, but the farmers will use their persuasive powers to get him to consent.
